Butchers sell sweetbreads which contains a mixture of the pancreas and thymus; and sometimes the brain is included.

Only feed raw under 100mg sodium per 4oz serving. It should not be enhanced, seasoned, smoked, or cooked in any way.

Organs are a vital part of raw diets. To achieve balance it is important to feed liver and other secreting organs to ensure the essential vitamins and nutrients are provided. It is important to note 5% of the organ content must be liver and the remaining 5% must be other secreting organs to complete the organ requirement.
